麻辣 鲜香

This dish originated in Leshan City, Sichuan Province. The name "Leshan" (Enjoy Mountains) is derived from the Confucian saying "Wise people find joy in water, virtuous people find joy in mountains," reflecting a city with a rich cultural and historical heritage. Various vegetables and meats are cooked and then immersed in cooling red oil seasoning, creating this unique traditional delicacy of Leshan.

Established in April 2020, Chengdu Bowl redefines dining with an innovative concept. Pairing a Sichuan-style main dish with six thoughtfully curated sides, a foundational base, and an exclusive secret sauce.

This establishment stands as Singapore's pioneer of Sichuan-style Grain Bowls. Aiming to present a healthier iteration of Sichuan cuisine, Chengdu Bowl artfully preserves the robust and spicy flavors intrinsic to the tradition.
